

SHORT COMMUNICATION

S. Yu. Storozhenko. TO THE SYNONYMY OF GENUS GAMPSOCLEIS FIEBER, 1852 (ORTHOPTERA: TETTIGONIIDAE). - Far Eastern Entomologist. 1999. N 78: 16.

С. Ю. Стороженко. К синонимии рода Gampsocleis Fieber (1852) (Orthoptera: Tettigoniidae). // Дальневосточный энтомолог. 1999. N 78: 16.

Genus Gampsocleis was established by F.X. Fieber in 1852 for two species [1]. In 1943 one of them, G. glabra (Herbst, 1786), has been designated by International Commission of Zoological Nomenclature as a type species of this genus. In 1932 S. P. Tarbinsky proposed a new subgenus Gampsocleodes for species with completely green colour of tegmen (in Gampsocleis s. str. tegmen green with dark spots) [2]. Such subdivision in two subgenera has been used by Tarbinsky [3] only and ignored by other taxonomists. The presence or absence of the dark spots on tegmen occurs not only in different species of Gampsocleis, but in different subspecies of one species also (for example, G. gratiosa gratiosa Brunner-Wattenwyl, 1862 and G. gratiosa infuscata Uvarov, 1924). Therefore subdivision of Gampsocleis to subgenera is unnecessary and a new synonymy is proposed here.

Genus Gampsocleis Fieber, 1852

Gampsocleis Fieber, 1852: 2, 8; type species: Gampsocleis glabra (Herbst, 1786), Europe, by subsequent designation (International Commission of Zoological Nomenclature, 1943, opinion 149).

Gampsocleodes Tarbinsky, 1932: 191 (Gampsocleis subg.; type species: Gampsocleis schelkovnikovae Adelung, 1916, Russia, by original designation), syn. n.
